THE DREAM OF A FIREPLACE AND ITS FLAME, TO BE SHARED WITH THE FAMILY

We find ourselves a few kilometers from Lake Como along the boundaries of Brianza.

In a refined residential area, a young couple chose to build their home using modern criteria and state-of-the-art systems.

They chose a high-quality prefabricated wooden building by Wolf Haus: maximum living comfort, very high energy efficiency, well-being, healthy living space, and guaranteed seismic safety.

The owner’s dream was to have a fireplace, with its flames, crackling fire and warm company to share with the family.

The couple evaluated the plans, chose the layout of the rooms and decided that the ideal place for the fireplace was there, in the center of the house, between the dining area and the living room. The Panoramic fireplace (Uppsala model) proved to be the perfect solution.

A circular wood-burning fireplace, ideal for the center of a room, with 360° panoramic glass and no metal frames.

A latest-generation firebox for spectacular flames, electric sliding glass panels, a suspended hood with air control and a classic wood fire: a perfect blend of technology and tradition, which is another factor that convinced the owner to choose this model.

The vertically sliding panoramic glass, which folds away completely into the base, is motor-driven with button controls.

While the house was taking shape, every single element was chosen with care, from the wallpaper in the living area to the impressive dining table, the original room divider and, for the Uppsala fireplace, the fine Majolica surround, all made with attention to every detail.

The impressive black steel hood, suspended by a custom-made bracket inserted between the wooden beams, and the base covered with large, precious Bianco Grigio Majolica panels enhance the contrasts.

The open space comprising the kitchen, dining room and living room features an outstanding fireplace, whose flames can be enjoyed while sitting at the table or relaxing on the sofa. Its presence accompanies the life of the home and its warmth spreads throughout, even reaching the upper floor thanks to its proximity to the stairwell.

Installation carried out thanks to our partner Casa Design, www.casadesignsrl.it, based in Gorla Maggiore (Varese), which offers a comprehensive service for your home, creating your own style.
